

Abstract

An object of this invention is to obtain a control apparatus capable of easily and speedily setting an output frequency, and it is constructed so as to change a change width of a frequency setting value in response to a rotational speed of a handle operation by an operator using a manual pulse generator for manually rotating a handle to generate a command pulse.

2025 RELEASE UNDER E.O. 14176